THEY MAY KNOW LATIN, BUT—

Chicago Students Are Just a Little Weak on Current Events.

By United Press
CHICAGO, April 5.—College students may be past masters of Latin and Greek but on current topics they're back numbers compared with the peddler of "poison" on the city's streets. In an experimental demonstration conducted by Prof. Herbert Willett on "past and current" topics less than 50 per cent of Chicago University's cultured ones answered the questions correctly.

Gerard, unattached ambassador, was designated as "a good smoke," a German taking a keen interest in the war.

Lloyd George was credited by one student with being "the king of England."

Zimmerman, German minister of foreign affairs, was accused of being both a prize fighter and a "baseball player."

Patrick Henry wasn't even mentioned as the originator of the "Give me liberty or give me death" national byword. Nathan Hale and Henry Clay were favorites.

The Chinese prince was everything from a "southern secret society" to an "Indiana reformer."

Not a single student knew that Thomas Edison was the "Wizard of Menlo Park."

High Schools Dismiss for Holidays.

The University High School dismissed classes at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Work will be resumed at 8 o'clock next Tuesday morning. Columbia High School will dismiss classes tomorrow afternoon at 2:20 o'clock. Work will be resumed at 8:25 o'clock Tuesday morning.

The estimate in blanket form calls for the money for military expenses under the direction of the war department and for the necessity of national defense and other operations connected therewith. The sums indicated are to be spent by the Secretary of War under the supervision of the President.

The Department of Justice co-incidentally asked for an appropriation of $300,000 yearly for the Bureau of Investigation Work to be available during 1917 and 1918.

The Coast Defense Service seeks $600,000 for the better preparation of that branch of the service.

French Close In on St. Quentin.

TRAMPLES ON FLAG; IS PUNISHED

E. Meyer, B. S. '16, Greenfield Teacher, Led Through Streets by Pupils.

When Ernest Meyer, B. S. in Agr. '16 now a teacher in the Greenfield High School, pulled a small American flag from the coat of a pupil yesterday and trampled on it, the whole school immediately became incensed. The pupils tied his hands behind his back, put a rope around his neck and led him around the city. He was forced to salute the flag several times during the parade while hundreds jeered.

Boys and girls, most of them wearing small flags, were standing in front of the school building before the morning session. Mr. Meyer came up. Pulling off one of the flags, apparently without reason, he stepped on it and went into the building. Then boys and girls held a consultation and determined to have revenge.

Led by the baseball team, they asked Mr. Meyer to salute a large flag they presented. He refused. Instead of going to their classrooms as he ordered them to do, they threw him to the floor, tied his feet so that he could take only short steps, tied his hands together and put a rope around his neck. Girls helped in the work. Teachers who tried to bring about peace were told not to meddle. Then Meyer was lifted to his feet and marched through the streets.

Exploding Lamp Burns J. M. Carter, '14

While examining a patient's throat John M. Carter, A. B. '14, now attending Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, was injured when an alcohol lamp which he was using exploded. Mr. Carter's face was seriously burned, but his eyesight was not injured as was first feared. The scars however, will remain on his face. He is recovering rapidly.

CHICAGOANS PRAISE M. U. SCHOOL

One Teacher, Visiting Here, Calls the Elementary School "Almost Ideal."

Two teachers from Chicago have been visitors at the University Elementary School the last three days. Miss Mary E. Osgood of the Chicago Latin School was sent to Columbia by the principal of the school, and Miss Laura Presby of Lake Villa, Ill., came to inspect the Elementary School for the Allendale Farm, a school for homeless boys that is maintained by Chicago people.

"I have never seen a place where pupils minded their own business so well nor where they had such a passion for reading," Miss Osgood told a Missourian reporter. "I liked it all immensely," she declared. "I am delighted with the division of the curriculum into long periods, so that time is given for something worth while to be accomplished. The freedom and informality of the school is what makes it wonderful."

Miss Presby thought that the school was "almost ideal." "Professor Meriam is practicing here what many teachers have thought was right, but had not the courage to start," she said. "I was impressed most with the general air of happiness and freedom, the entire lack of restraint." Miss School.

Miss Presby was also interested in the work of the University High School.

Stephens College Notes

A flag raising took place at 7:30 o'clock this morning on the Stephens College Campus. A simple and brief patriotic program was given by the faculty and students.

The Stephens College Easter holidays began at 10 o'clock this morning and will end Tuesday. One hundred and thirty left on the morning trains. About forty will spend their vacations here.

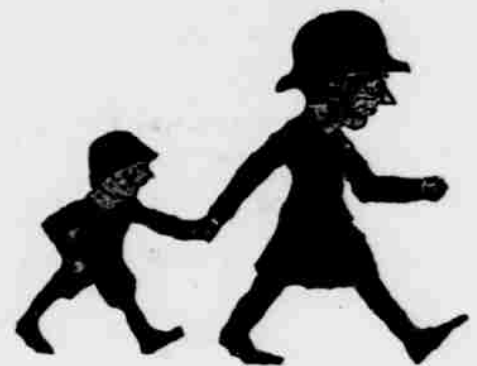

A party of eight will leave early in the morning on a hike to Fulton. Another party of six will leave tomorrow for Huntsdale, where they will spend their vacation fishing. The party will be chaperoned by Miss Ann Douglas and Miss Jessie Kite.

Those who remain at the college will give a masquerade ball in the college gymnasium tomorrow night.

Those who heard the graduation recital of Miss Sansa Vera Carey, soprano, Miss Gayle Kendrick, pianist, and Miss Eugenia Quisenberry, reader, at Stephens College Tuesday were well pleased. All the numbers drew much applause from the audience. The four American Indian songs given in costume by Miss Carey were special favorites.

The recital was well attended, and the selections brought continual applause. Miss Violet Mitchell was accompanist.
